

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS LIVING FORGOTTEN REALMS

(character name)

HAS RECEIVED STORY AWARDS FROM:
(cross out those not received)

CORE2-1 KILLING THE MESSENGER

CORE38 Bregan D'aerthe Respect

Through Izztyrr Mae'urden, word of your success in Sshamath has spread through the Bregan D'aerthe mercenary company, giving you the reputation of being crafty, logical, and dangerous. Should you encounter other Bregan D'aerthe mercenaries in the future - as ally or enemy - they offer you respect and think twice before crossing you.

CORE39 Elturgardan Gratitude

The Church of Amaunator in Elturgard and the High Observer are grateful for your service to their nation. Though word of your actions is kept to the upper echelons of the organizations, powerful individuals such as High Morninglord Orman and Inquisitor Tellar feel that they are in your debt. This begins a major quest.

CORE40 Bregan D'aerthe Disrespect

Through Izztyrr Mae'urden, word of your irrational behavior or failure has spread through the Bregan D'aerthe mercenary company. The group thinks of you as unpredictable and dangerously incompetent.

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS LIVING FORGOTTEN REALMS

(character name)

HAS RECEIVED STORY AWARDS FROM:
(cross out those not received)

CORE2-1 KILLING THE MESSENGER

CORE38 Bregan D'aerthe Respect

Through Izztyrr Mae'urden, word of your success in Sshamath has spread through the Bregan D'aerthe mercenary company, giving you the reputation of being crafty, logical, and dangerous. Should you encounter other Bregan D'aerthe mercenaries in the future - as ally or enemy - they offer you respect and think twice before crossing you.

CORE39 Elturgardan Gratitude

The Church of Amaunator in Elturgard and the High Observer are grateful for your service to their nation. Though word of your actions is kept to the upper echelons of the organizations, powerful individuals such as High Morninglord Orman and Inquisitor Tellar feel that they are in your debt. This begins a major quest.

CORE40 Bregan D'aerthe Disrespect

Through Izztyrr Mae'urden, word of your irrational behavior or failure has spread through the Bregan D'aerthe mercenary company. The group thinks of you as unpredictable and dangerously incompetent.

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS LIVING FORGOTTEN REALMS

(character name)

HAS RECEIVED STORY AWARDS FROM:
(cross out those not received)

CORE2-1 KILLING THE MESSENGER

CORE38 Bregan D'aerthe Respect

Through Izztyrr Mae'urden, word of your success in Sshamath has spread through the Bregan D'aerthe mercenary company, giving you the reputation of being crafty, logical, and dangerous. Should you encounter other Bregan D'aerthe mercenaries in the future - as ally or enemy - they offer you respect and think twice before crossing you.

CORE39 Elturgardan Gratitude

The Church of Amaunator in Elturgard and the High Observer are grateful for your service to their nation. Though word of your actions is kept to the upper echelons of the organizations, powerful individuals such as High Morninglord Orman and Inquisitor Tellar feel that they are in your debt. This begins a major quest.

CORE40 Bregan D'aerthe Disrespect

Through Izztyrr Mae'urden, word of your irrational behavior or failure has spread through the Bregan D'aerthe mercenary company. The group thinks of you as unpredictable and dangerously incompetent.